crowded thoroughfare. The pavement was slippery from the grease of the many passing cars and the runaway in attempting to take a sharp turn slipped and fell.

Miss Burrill was thrown over its head and crashed to the road more than ten feet away. She did not move, and Mrs. Beach, who was first at her side, found she was unconscious.

She was lifted into the car and another race was begun, with the Presbyterian Hospital as the goal, Dr. Cobb said her condition was very sesocial set and scores of inquiries about her condition were received at the home and the hospital.

At 7 o'clock on Monday evening the Pope retired to his study. He had comtion was serious and became greatly alarmed as no physician was present. Father Presdocimo, the Vatican chemist, was called, and administered stimulants, which revived the Pontiff.

Dr. Andrea Amici was hastily summoned, and was followed by Professor Marchiafava. They found that the Pope had already been put to bed, but was still suffering from a recurrence of faintness. Finding that the action of the heart was weak they injected strophanthus, which restored him. The sisters and niece of the Pontiff were notified immediately and went at once to the Vatican. They remained.

By order of the physicians all audiences were suspended and the Pope with the result that a steady improvement was noted. On his last visit tonight, Dr. Marchiafava found conditions
